Digital ID

by Bob Glaze

The United Nations has come to the realization that everyone on this planet needs to be able to prove who they are and to do business likewise. The move is named “ID2020 Alliance Partners.” The goal is as noted at www.id2020.org/manifesto: “In 2018, ID2020 Alliance Partners, working in partnership with the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), drafted a formal articulation of our perspective on ethical approaches to digital identity. The landmark ID2020 Alliance Manifesto below lays out these shared principles and forms a starting point to guide the future of digital identity globally.”

This manifesto includes a ten-point statement that “the ability to prove one’s identity is a fundamental and universal human right.” It adds that over one billion people cannot prove who they are and are denied protection of law, basic services, voting, or transaction of modern economy and should be accepted across institutional and national borders and part of centralized databases. In other words, it would enable digitally identified people to buy, sell, or trade.

There are some that are associating this ID with the mark of the beast because of the need of some type of device, maybe an RFID chip inserted into the body, “And he causeth all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and bond, to receive a mark in their right hand, or in their foreheads: And that no man might buy or sell, save he that had the mark, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name” (Rev. 13:16–17). The manifesto adds that individuals need a trusted, verifiable way to prove who they are. The problem is, “How do we manage to get the cooperation of everyone on the globe to accept the ID and how is it to be administered?” This problem brings us to getting people to accept a chip. However, we must remember that there are two more possibilities: that of the name of the beast, or the number of his name.

This brings us to one of the founders of Microsoft, Bill Gates, now the proud director, along with his wife Melinda, of the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation. Bill is reported to be the third richest man in the world, with an astounding worth of 110 billion dollars.

The entire thrust of the foundation seems to be vaccines—Bill loves vaccines. He also believes that we have more people on the earth than can be sustained, and vaccines are the answer to overpopulation. “The world today has 6.8 billion people. That’s headed up to about nine billion. Now, if we do a really great job on new vaccines, health care, reproductive health services, we could lower that by, perhaps, 10 or 15 percent” (www.newsweek.com). The magic date for critical mass seems to be 2050 for matching population with available resources.

Ted Turner stated that a world population of 250–300 million on earth would be ideal. Jacques Cousteau stated the we must eliminate 350,000 people a day to achieve sustainability. Henry Kissinger said that the earth needs to be decreased by 50 percent. Mikhail Gorbachev stated that we need to cut the earth’s population by 90 percent. David Brower, the Sierra Club’s first executive director, said: “Childbearing should be a punishable crime against society” (www.archive.org).

None of these give his equation, but Bill knows that the answer to lowering population on the earth is vaccines. Gates comes by his quest to kill off people honestly! His dad was one of those who once headed Planned Parenthood. During the trials of Roe v. Wade, Senior Gates sat on the board of Planned Parenthood with Margaret Sanger. Sanger stated such ideas as: “But from my view, I believe that there should be no more babies”; “The most merciful thing that the large family does to one of its infant members is to kill it”; “We don’t want the word to go out that we want to exterminate the negro population”; “Eugenics without birth control seems to us a house builded (sic) upon the sands”; and “No woman shall have the legal right to bear a child, and no man shall have the right to become a father, without a permit for parenthood.” Of course, she and Bill Sr. could only say these things after they were born. Bill Sr. and Sanger were cut from the same cloth. And Junior has taken up his fathers quest.

Will vaccine injections be mandatory at some point? President Joe Biden's chief medical adviser stated, "I'm not sure it's [the COVID-19 vaccine] going to be mandatory from a central government standpoint, like federal government mandates. But there are going to be individual institutions that I'm sure are going to mandate it" (www.newsweek.com). There are many proposals that may soon become realities, all in the name of security and identity.

There is a very concerning proposal running around in Washington. The technology already exists for pets which is an electronic microchip or transponder. A subcutaneous electronic microchip allows you to identify your pet. It is no larger than a grain of rice and only takes a few minutes for your vet to insert. A transponder does not emit any electric waves once inserted. The proposal is a digital certificate that verifies if you have been vaccinated and was developed by MIT and Microsoft. They are looking at merging this with Bill Gates' ID2020. It is entirely possible that this scare has been a deliberate plot to get people to accept these digital implants. Refuse, and you will be prohibited from social gatherings. Like 9/11 conditioned us to be x-rayed before entering a plane, now the next stage is to embed digital markers that they have been using in dogs and cats. Bill Gates has sought to impose mandatory ID chips in you. He argues that his idea is not an infringement on privacy. [Even] Price Waterhouse is all for ID2020 to forcibly install digital chips into all of us.

Gates recently was asked how businesses would be able to operate while managing to keep to social distancing. Gates replied, "Eventually we will have some digital certificates to show who has recovered or been tested recently or when we have a vaccine who has received it."

The 'digital certificates' Gates was referring to are human-implantable 'QUANTUM-DOT TATTOOS' that researchers at MIT and Rice University are working on as a way to hold vaccination records. It was last year in December when scientists from the two universities revealed that they were working on these quantum-dot tattoos after Bill Gates approached them about solving the problem of identifying those who have not been vaccinated. ...

The definition of Quantum-dot tattoos involves dissolvable sugar-based microneedles that contain a vaccine and fluorescent copper-based 'quantum dots' embedded inside biocompatible, micron-scale capsules. After the microneedles dissolve, they leave the encapsulated quantum dots whose patterns can be read to identify the vaccine that was administered."

This is in line with the UN's Sustainable Development Goals initiative.

According to Robert Francis Kennedy, Jr., nephew of John F. Kennedy, Bill Gates has a messianic conviction that he is ordained to save the world with vaccines and so he is willing to experiment with other's lives.

However, the opposite is happening in many places such as India. Promising to eradicate polio there, he took control of the India National Advisory Board after a $1.2 million donation. Gates and his cronies were later evicted by the Indian government after his polio vaccine paralyzed 496,000 children between 2000 and 2017. In one remote village, he vaccinated 23,000 young girls and 1,200 suffered side effects including autoimmune disorder and fertility disorders. (Imagine that!) After Gates was kicked out, the paralysis cases dropped dramatically. The case is now in India's Supreme Court.

In Africa in 2010, Gates conducted a trial with malaria vaccines, killing 151 infants and causing serious side effects in 1,048 of the 5,049 children vaccinated. According to the article, in Sub-Saharan Africa, Gates operatives forcibly vaccinated thousands of children for meningitis; between 50 and 500 developed paralysis. The South African newspapers complained, "We are guinea pigs for drug makers" (www.fort-russ.com).

Also in 2010, Gates committed $10 million dollars to WHO, promising to reduce population with vaccines. He later said that the vaccines could possibly reduce population. In 2014, Kenya's Catholic Doctor's Association accused WHO of sterilizing millions of unwilling Kenyan women. WHO finally admitted that they had been developing the vaccines for over a decade. He didn't lie; he did reduce the population. Also, "a 2017 study (Morgensen et.al., 2017) showed that WHO's popular DTP is killing more Africans than the disease it pretends to prevent. Vaccinated girls suffered 10x the death rate of unvaccinated children."

Between Planned Parenthood, WHO, UNICEF, GAVI (THE GLOBAL ALLIANCE FOR VACCINES), and PATH (PEOPLE ACTING TO HELP), the number of people on the earth will be greatly reduced unless the Lord comes back soon. Gates may even meet his quota of intentional deaths in his lifetime. These organizations are using fear of COVID-19 to drive frightened people to the vaccine lines. We love and appreciate the thousands of first-line responders of nurses, doctors, and other fine Americans trying to save lives the only way they know how.
